

SOUTHAMPTON ORIENTEERING CLUB

presents the

RESULTS of the
36th NOVEMBER CLASSIC

held at
Burley Lodge and Bratley Water,
New Forest
on
Sunday 2nd NOVEMBER 2003

ORGANISER'S COMMENTSTim Holt

Judging by your comments, you enjoyed the event and we are very pleased about that.

This was due first and foremost to Ray Massey's meticulous planning - despite having to re-jig courses at a relatively late stage - and to John Warren and Kirsty Staunton's supportive controlling.

On the organisation side a major event needs support from a large number of people and I am grateful to SOC members who worked tirelessly to make the event a success.

The Emit system worked well and the results and splits were on the internet on Sunday evening. For this I thank Allan Farrington and his team as well as Jerry Newcombe and Terry Smith from SOC.

The final image, at about 4.30, was of an empty field – no traders, no tents, no cars and in particular no litter. I find it impressive that such a large number of people can 'invade' a village and then disperse in such an orderly and thoughtful manner – long may it be so!

LOST PROPERTY

One member of the public who lost a mobile phone must have thought that Christmas had come early when it was returned to him within 24 hours. Other than that we have a couple of compasses and a Helly Henson – e-mail claims to tim.holt2@virgin.net please.

PLANNERS' COMMENTSRay Massey

Let me start by thanking three people outside SOC, who contributed greatly to the apparent success of this event.

John Warren (WIM) was a most proper, positive and constructive controller; and a mine of information on the peculiarities of National Events. Before this event he was an acquaintance, now he is a friend. Kirsty Staunton (WIM) was John's Co-Controller, she is a delightful lady to know, great to work with, and has the happy knack of getting the best out of people. Nigel Benham (SARUM) runs a print and design company (BML Printers: 01794 518518; they printed the maps. I found it so satisfying working with a local firm run by an enthusiastic orienteer. It was always a pleasure to drop into their office in Romsey to get a few copies of the latest draft map. Try them - you won't be disappointed.

Within SOC, my thanks must go firstly to the map surveyors for their long hours of painstaking work both in and out of the forest. Surveying alongside me were Robert Jackson and Colin Hicks (also Nick Norse), thank you gentlemen. Robert, Charlie Richardson and John Horton ran some test courses for me; their input was invaluable: I found it difficult to believe some of the direct routes they chose; but as a result of their comments I shortened the courses a little, and put in a few extra controls to keep competitors out of the worst marshes. My forest team was very much the good people already mentioned, with the addition of Jenny Thompson and my wife Sue (who hasn't orienteered for perhaps twenty years). Parents of children on courses 26 & 27 should be heartened to know that Jenny and Sue were monitoring the progress of their offspring on those courses throughout the day.

From my perspective the turning point for this event was Monday 8th September. I had a long discussion that day with John Warren, about my proposed courses. He found them wanting. As I drove home afterwards, I stopped to check the beer quality at a pub in Ringwood, for CAMRA. (Orienteering isn't the only pleasure I have.) The beer was good, and on reflection so were John's comments.

As is often the case when I try to map and plan together, the planning suffers because there are always some map updates to consider first. I will not make that mistake again. I let John's positive comments and suggestions ferment for a week while I worked on improving the map. Then went on holiday for a week. I came back refreshed, and spent an intensive week checking possible new sites, merging them into the existing courses to reduce the problems, and rerouting some courses to reduce the control loading. The following week started with a forest walk with John to resolve the last issues, and to concentrate on the junior courses, which benefited greatly from John's expertise. By the end of September the courses had fallen into shape, much as a result of having someone like John to talk to (or is that listen to?).

I had more problems planning on this area than I've ever had planning before. And I'm talking here about terrain problems (not those additional complications caused by the peculiar workings of Forest Enterprise). At the outset, John was asked to evaluate the area for suitability for a National Event. I don't know his exact words, but essentially he said it was marginal, there was little really technical terrain, and obvious control sites were few. He was right again. On the other hand, I was a great supporter of the area, because of its outstanding scenery; probably not the best justification for an orienteering event.

Let me just tell you a little about the marshes. In the early stages of planning it was very tempting to set long legs diagonally across large marshy tracts in the belief that this was giving competitors route choice: 'go left, or right, or through the middle'. WRONG. New Forest marshes are unpredictable, local runners know how to cope, and generally escape. But there is no guarantee that some part of an apparently innocuous marsh might not be a real man-eater. Who can tell, we cannot afford to loose mappers testing the marshes; and we certainly can't risk losing any competitors.

There is another marsh problem: One runner may find a reasonable route across a marsh with little difficulty. He leaves behind a track of dark footprints. A second runner follows, ok. Soon a black track develops and eventually the crust breaks and the marsh turns liquid. The route is then dangerous. The black scar on the marsh lasts for several months, much longer than crushed leaves on the forest floor. The scar is viewed by outsiders and orienteers get labelled as being unsympathetic to the environment.

Now you see why the marshes were such a major constraint. It was as if I was only working in 1.5 dimensions instead of 2, my choice of routes was always being restricted. But because the marshes present such a barrier, wherever there is a gap in the marshes, there is generally a path, be it animal or man made. So for me to keep you out of the marshes, I often needed to route the courses near or along a path.

Marshes and the general lack of good orienteering features made planning really difficult this time. I tried to give you courses that would be enjoyable even if I could not make them too technical. Thank you for coming and supporting our event in such large numbers, I hope you went home feeling the event was worth the journey.

CONTROLLER'S COMMENTS

John Warren (WIM)

I hope that you all enjoyed a memorable day in a beautiful part of the New Forest and despite the early deluge found the variety of terrain in Burley Lodge and Bratley a satisfying challenge.

Ray Massey was faced with two major planning challenges. Firstly, all major marshy areas were out of bounds for environmental reasons. Secondly, he wished to give as many courses as possible the opportunity of navigating in areas of semi open and open natural forest, I believe that his courses made the best use of the area and would like to congratulate him on your behalf for doing a first rate job at both Junior and Senior levels. Almost all course winning times were within the guideline target levels and very few people were out for over long times. Ray's input to the event has been immense having mapped part of the area and over the past few months proved to be rigorous, meticulous and punctilious in meeting some very tight planning schedules.

In any large scale event there are many people who deserve our thanks but I would like to pick out two. Firstly, my Assistant or rather Co- Controller, Kirsty Staunton, whose unfailing enthusiasm, energy and critical attention to detail was a real inspiration in the run up to the event. Secondly, Tim Holt, who was a resourceful yet relaxed Organiser, coping efficiently with everything that was thrown at him including a short notice relocation of the finish, car park and assembly area together with the provision of buses!

Orienteering is fortunate to have so many committed and skilled volunteers and to all SOC mappers, officials and team members I offer my thanks and congratulations on what was a highly successful day.
